

Associate in Risk Management ARM

Insurance Educational Association

Want to earn a prestigious designation but don't want to do it on your own? Is your study group not working for you? IEA can help you achieve your goals!

Institute courses can be challenging and with the demands of work and family sometimes finding the discipline to get through the course material can be difficult. IEA's highly skilled instructors can give you the insight you need to meet the challenge of successfully passing the national exams.

IEA offers the ARM designation in a convenient online instructor-led format. Here are some of the advantages:

- ⇒ Access to your course from anywhere in the world, 24/7
- ⇒ Focused reading assignments
- ⇒ Online quizzes and exams
- ⇒ Weekly teleconference with knowledgeable instructors providing lecture and class participation
- ⇒ Save time and money on travel

If you prefer a more structured approach, then classroom study is your best choice. Courses meet once a week for 2 1/2 hours at key geographic areas offering convenient access to freeways and major metropolitan areas. You'll stay on course for the entire 12 week program. You'll receive weekly reading assignments and quizzes, along with a mid-term and final. You can network with other students in class, and participate in group projects.

About the Designation

Earning the ARM designation will help you enhance your contribution to your organization's value by acquiring the skills needed to develop effective and thorough risk assessments. You'll increase participation in your risk control programs through better understanding and staff motivation. The ARM designation will help you support your organization's overall financial goals by learning to build and implement a balanced risk financing strategy using retention, transfer, and hybrids.
