IEA Releases Online California Independent Adjuster Prelicensing Course
24/7 Access to the Latest in Online Learning Technology

November 2, 2010

Orange, California....Insurance Educational Association announced today the release of IEA's new California Claims Adjuster Prelicensing Course offered through IEA's state of the art online self study format. The new independent claim adjuster course offers students 24/7 access as well as an 'Ask the Expert' feature which allows students to have content related questions answered by industry experts as they progress through the course.

"We are excited about the release of our new independent adjuster prelicensing course for California" president Roy Little said today. "With growing interest in the field of independent claims adjusting in California a product was needed to assist professionals prepare for the state exam. This product is accessible countrywide 24 hours a day which allows us to serve not only California professionals but those outside California". The online self study course is a companion to IEA's Texas claims adjuster course, which is also offered in an online self study format.
