ONLINE SEMINARS NOW AVAILABLE THROUGH IEA

New CE Credit Now Available in an Easy to Access Format

November 29, 2010

Orange, California....Insurance Educational Association has released an online seminar platform to offer distance learning continuing education to students. Today's release marks IEA's second distance learning product released this year.

IEA will provide workers' compensation topics monthly in 2 or 3 hour telephone seminars. The online seminar platform is a companion to IEA's recently released tele-lecture program which offers topics in 1 hour segments.

"Having the ability to bridge the divide between topical continuing education material and our customer's ability to access material from any location is what both our tele-lecture and online seminar platforms provide" IEA president and CEO Roy Little said today. The initial release of IEA's online seminars is scheduled for November 30th 2010 and December 2nd 2010 with 2 three hour online seminars. The schedule for January 2011 tele-lectures and online seminars will be released the first week of January 2011 and posted on IEA's website www.ieatraining.com.
