WORK COMP CE NOW AVAILABLE THROUGH TELE-LECTURES

12 New Seminars Announced with More Expected

September 29, 2010

Orange, California....Insurance Educational Association president and CEO Roy Little announced today the release IEA's new Tele-Lecture platform as a new way to bring continuing education seminars to workers' compensation professionals. The initial rollout of the Tele-Lecture series for the weeks of October 25 and November 1 comprises 12 topical seminars with more seminars expected to come online later. . . .

'We want to bring topical continuing education information to all our students regardless of their location. We will fill the need through the latest technology that is both rewarding and educational to our students. Tele-Lectures, along with on-demand videos, are our two prong solution". IEA is expected to announce a complete fall/winter schedule of Tele-Lectures by the end of October, with on-demand video continuing education coming online by the end of 2010.
